Message from the President

November, 2024 – November, 2026

I call this meeting to order.

D'var Torah: Thanks to Charles Wittenberg for setting a tone, beautifully, at every meeting, bringing us a bit of Torah, making it relevant to us personally, organizationally, and spiritually. . . and for guiding us in remembering members who have passed away.

Minutes: Thanks to Phyllis Wittenberg, for always getting the substance of all minutes right, and for her kind reminders to get our reports ready.

Administrator's Report: Thanks to Elsa for bringing us up to date on all, i.e. what has been done, what is being done, and what needs to be done. She does it all professionally, understanding the big picture of our synagogue and our community, while keenly aware of individual needs of every congregant. Her loyalty, her ready smile . . . always a "yes" . . . thanks, Elsa.

Finance Report: Thanks to Laura Leventhal for her finance reports, very specific when examining each line to prepare the budget, more generalized for easy understanding by the board members-at-large, to get a feel for the financial state of the synagogue.

Thanks to Sandy Marcus, our bookkeeper, for working with vendors, not just paying them, but working with them on any and every project; for handling payroll; for working with each member in a confidential and efficient manner; and, of course, for working with Laura in developing our annual budget and in keeping the board apprised of our finances.

Personnel Report: Thanks to Bob Berkowitz for exploring rabbinic options when we were moving in that direction and helping us to find options when needed. Also, thanks to Bobby for chairing our Yizkor Book project, In Loving Memory.

Programming: Thanks to Nancy Jacobson, our professional program director, for working with her committee to provide nonstop varied opportunities for our members, from parks to theater, to movies and book clubs, from speakers and games, from learning to laughing, from food to glorious food.

Book Club: Thanks to Ken Pargament and the Book Club Committee, in moving us through our first year with thoughtful guidance and enthusiastic support.

House Report: Thanks to Melvin Siegel and his committee for working to make sure that all house needs were addressed, both inside and outside of the synagogue, from tiny leaks to huge replacements.

And thanks to Chris Dietrick, Housekeeping and Maintenance, who has not only been an invaluable partner to Mel, but also memorizes, organizes, and sanitizes each corner of the synagogue, always wanting to do whatever she can to make us and our synagogue shine.

Trust Oversight: Thanks to Steve Marcus for working with his committee in staying on top of our investments, accessing them as appropriate, and keeping the board informed.

Future Committee: Thanks to Steve Marcus and his committee for their work, meeting regularly to discuss, explore, and recommend so many ideas and evaluating so many steps for our synagogue. Steve's history with the shul, his extensive knowledge of our financial assets, and his open mind and patience, made him the perfect person to be the chair. I know he will take his same skills forward as he assumes the role of presidency of Congregation Etz Chayim.

Religious Committee: Thanks to chairman Charles Wittenberg, Gabbi, for working with his committee to make sure that our services and rituals were handled smoothly and properly, including making sure that our High Holiday services were led by our clergy of choice, Rabbi Jason Mark and Cantor Joseph Gold.

Security Committee: Thanks to Bob Wengrow for working with his Federation counterpart and with our shul staff in making sure that we provide the best security we know for our members, our staff, and our building.

Cemetery Committee: Thanks to Bob Wengrow for working with his committee to address issues related not only to our part of the cemetery, but issues that we share with B'nai Israel. And thanks to Danny Becker who continues his position as one of the Managers of the TJCCA.

Nominating Committee: Thanks to Marc Jacobson and his committee for finding just the right people to help us carefully and thoughtfully move forward while staying true to the mission of Congregation Etz Chayim.

Legacy Committee: Thanks to Phyllis Wittenberg for chairing this new committee and working with its members to explore a potpourri of options appropriate for us to create our own Etz Chayim Legacy.

Religious Secretary: Thanks to Melvin Siegel, Religious Secretary, for assigning aliyot throughout the High Holiday Services, assuring that all had an opportunity to honor or memorialize people dear to them.

Lubitsky Committee: Thanks to Phyllis Wittenberg and her committee for their work to carefully choose persons deserving special recognition through the Morris Lubitsky Leadership Award and/or the Harry Levine Service Award.

Sisterhood: Thanks to Cheryl Berkowitz and Andrea Lublin for keeping our Sisterhood active, working closely with both Elsa and with Nancy in programming, to maximize both our human and financial resources, in providing opportunities of involvement for our members. Special thanks to Carol VanZile for chairing the Shalach Manot Project.

Good and Welfare:

Thanks to the Minyanaires who faithfully attend our Wednesday evening minyanim. They represent why we exist.

Thanks to David Black for serving as Gabbi during our High Holiday Services. His knowledge and religiosity and his participation serve our congregation beautifully.

Thanks to Alan Jaffee and Janet Rogolsky, both non-board members, for representing us in our community with purpose and passion. Thanks to Alan for representing us on the Federation's Space Committees. Thanks to Janet for serving as the liaison between Etz Chayim and the Toledo Museum of Art in facilitating the gifting of our Torah Crown.

Thanks to non-board members for helping on committees: Alice Applebaum, Andrea Delman, Daniel Gale, Tom Jaffee, Rachel Osnowitz, Mickey Rosenberg, Michael Siegel, Lynne Wengrow.

Thanks to Sandy Marcus for enhancing and sustaining our most beautiful gift shop, year after year after year.

Thanks to Naomi and Richard Baron for their loyalty even from Indiana, offering their input at every meeting that was held on Zoom.

Thanks to Honorary Board Members Larry Frank and Marcia Grossman for providing groundwork over the years for much that we hold sacred today.

Thanks to Sharon Ravin for singlehandedly working over the past years with diligence and extraordinary organization, to sort through every room, every object, every folder, every paper to help us appropriately dispose of what was not necessary for us to keep.

Thanks to the following additional board members for attending meetings, serving on committees, providing their thoughtful input, listening with respect to differing opinions, and remaining loyal to the legacy of Congregation Etz Chayim: Eric Dubow, Susan Hartman Muska, Jeff Lublin, Sheila Odesky, Sam Osnowitz, Aileen Pargament, Suzanne Rosenberg, Diane Treuhaft, and Joe Wittenberg.

And thanks to every member of our Congregation for your support, support of any kind and every kind.

It has been an honor and a privilege – truly – MY honor and MY privilege – to work with all of these people, ALL of these people, whose dedication has made serving as president of Congregation just that, and honor and a privilege.

In closing this meeting, I turn to Pirkei Avos (and to Artificial Intelligence) and am led to Bava Batra, a tractate of the Talmud, in which we discuss that a community works because people accept shared responsibilities. Bava Batra discusses people who live near one another and share walls, courtyards, roads, wells, and other resources. The basic principle is: If we benefit from something together, we also have obligations toward it together. In synagogue terms, the synagogue belongs to the community and everyone who serves has a piece of the responsibility.

That applies beautifully to a synagogue board and congregation. If everyone wants a vibrant congregation, everyone is required to contribute something – time, ideas, expertise, money, encouragement, or simply showing up and helping.

Bava Batra doesn't require everyone to contribute in the same fashion. Community requires cooperation. A community is held together when people recognize that they are partners in something larger than themselves. Of course, this connects beautifully to Pirkei Avot 2:4: "Do not separate yourself from the community." You belong to the community, and because you belong, you have responsibilities toward it.

Together, we have seen our responsibilities; we have responded to them. Thank you to all of you for this past two years.

And now, yep, it was a long one. This meeting is adjourned.

B'ahava,

Marjorie Siegel

Congregation Etz Honors

KEN PARGAMENT & CAROL VANZILE
with the 2026 Harry Levine Service Award

Ken Pargament

Ken Pargament was born to Florence and Sol Pargament in Washington, DC where he was raised along with his older brother, Jeff and younger sister, Marcia. His father owned a clothing store in downtown DC and later a medical supplies business. His mother worked as an office assistant to an allergist.

Music was a big part of his family and Ken played percussion in bands throughout his adolescence and years in college.

In graduate school at the University of Maryland, he met and married Aileen Agetstein. After Aileen received her master's degree in social work and Ken received his Ph.D. in clinical psychology they moved to Bowling Green/Toledo in 1979.

Ken and Aileen soon joined Congregation Etz Chayim and became involved in synagogue activities. Ken currently serves on the Board of Trustees and is on the Program Planning Committee. He has initiated the Etz Chayim Book Club which has been very successful.

Ken and Aileen have two children, Jonathan who was born in 1983 and Benjamin in 1986. Both sons attended the Hebrew Academy in Toledo.

Aileen established a private practice in Toledo and Ken enjoyed many years of teaching, research, and clinical practice at Bowling Green State University. Currently, he has transitioned out of full-time teaching but still continues with part-time research, writing, and talks in the psychology of religion.

Ken and Aileen love to travel and enjoy spending quality time with their five grandchildren, Emmy, Oliver, Hudson, Noah, and Sloane.

Ken is honored to be receiving the Harry Levine Service Award from Congregation Etz Chayim.

Carol VanZile

Carol started coming to services at Etz Chayim around 2001-2002 as a guest of Simma Korosteshevsky. The first time she attended Rosh Hashanah services she knew she had found her place. Carol converted to Judaism and joined Etz Chayim in 2012.

With Ruthie Steingroot as her teacher Carol really enjoyed helping in the kitchen Another great mentor was Barbra Rubin who encouraged her to help with the Purim Shaloch Manot project. In time she asked Carol to assist her and when she could not continue Carol took over the entire project.

In her personal life Carol was a Physical Education teacher. She started her first two years in private schools and then took a position at Rossford Public Schools. In 2009 she took a position teaching Taekwondo in a charter school for 5 years. Carol is currently the owner and chief instructor at Great Lakes Global Taekwondo. She started this school as a 3rd degree black belt in 1997 with her three sons. She continues to teach 3-4 days a week.

Carol loves teaching and working with students of all ages. Over the years she has not only taught P.E. and Taekwondo but has taught friends how to can fruits & vegetables, plant a vegetable garden, make bread, and sew. Teaching is a natural extension of her.

Carol has been married to Mike for 48 years and is blessed with 2 granddaughters with whom she loves spending time. Carol is an ovarian Cancer/Primary Peritoneal Cancer survivor of 4 years. Each day she thanks Hashem for the gift of another day to spend with those she loves and to be able to continue teaching, sewing, cooking and canning her crops.

When she is able, Carol still really enjoys working in the kitchen with the wonderful ladies of the Sisterhood. She is very thankful to Etz Chayim for their love and support and is very humbled to be receiving the Harry Levine Service Award.
